

Welcome Letter from the Symposium President

On Behalf of the Board of Directors and staff I would like to extend a warm welcome to you for the 2025 Florida Hazardous Materials Symposium! We are truly humbled by the national and international attention this event has garnered, and we are thrilled to host participants who have traveled from both near and far to join us in the beautiful State of Florida. The knowledge and expertise that each of you brings to this symposium play a vital role in enhancing the well-being of communities and organizations you serve. Your commitment to sharing and receiving insights is what makes this event so impactful, and I am confident that this year will exemplify why we continue to host this symposium year after year. We have an exciting agenda planned, filled with insightful discussions, innovative ideas, and a shared commitment to training first responders, first receivers, and industry professionals. Together, we will explore the latest advancements in hazardous materials response and collaborate on solutions that will benefit us all. We look forward to a memorable symposium filled with insightful discussions, innovative ideas, and a shared commitment to safety. Thank you for being here, and we look forward to an unforgettable symposium experience with each of you!

Jonathan Lamm, CFO, Fire Chief, City of Cocoa
President, Florida Hazardous Materials Symposium

